

ABSTRACT

METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR PROVIDING MEDICAL ASSISTANCE TO A TRAVELER

5 A system for providing medical information and services to subscribers that are traveling abroad. The system include a server that houses a variety of databases for storing personal medical files for the subscribers, medical call centers in various countries, medicine and prescription information or the like. A subscriber traveling in a foreign country can access the server through the Internet using a client device. Upon accessing 10 the server, the client can retrieve his or her medical information in a variety of languages, as well as identify locations to obtain medical help.